World Day of Prayer To Be Observed Friday, Feb. 29th

The World Day of Prayer services will be held in Bethel A. M. E. Church, Friday, February 29th, at four p. m. and eight p. m. The four o'clock service will be for children.

World Day of Prayer is observed every year on the first Friday in Lent. This observance was started many years ago by Christian women who felt the great need in this world for all people to unite their hearts and their prayers. Started in the United States in 1887 the response to the idea was so great that in 1927 a special day was decided upon as a world-wide day of prayer. From dawn on the Fiji Islands to dusk on the Arctic Sea, Lawrence, women and men of all countries unite in services of prayer and praise, penitence and dedication. Since 1942 the preparation of these programs has been the task of the World Day of Prayer Committee of the United Council of Christian Women.

The purpose of the observance is to unite Christians around the world in prayer, and in the United States to make an offering to support interdenominational missions at home and abroad.

The program for 1952 comes from the migrants, sharecroppers and Indians in the U. S. A. and those who live close to the earth in other lands. The offering is divided equally between the Division of Foreign Missions and the Division of Home Missions who allocate it for interdenominational work as follows: Home Missions: Christian education for American Indians; training pastors and leaders; and developing Christian community life among sharecroppers; and religious and social ministry to agricultural migrant families. Foreign Missions: Christian literature for women and children in India, Burma, Japan, Egypt, Africa and Latin America; the Committee on Friendly Relations among Foreign Students here in America; education of Christian leaders in interdenominational Christian Colleges in the Orient.

SUN ON THE LARYNX

Believe it or not—and it may seem incredible—we were once on the verge of making an important medical discovery. If we had pursued our logic further, we might have been one of those rare laymen who have benefited humankind by advancing the science of medicine.

We say this on the authority of Dr. Watt Eagle, Duke University otolaryngologist. Not that he ever heard of our experiment, or even of us, but that he has just publicly suggested a new treatment for throat infections. It is a specific treatment that he considers more effective than fulfuranides and other antibiotics used in such cases.

All you do is open your mouth and expose your throat to direct sunlight in the morning and again in the afternoon for several days. Well, not quite all. The exposure should go on for five minutes each time.

At the end of that period, the tongue should be exposed for another five minutes. Dr. Eagle says you must be careful to expose the root to the sun. Do all this and the results, he says, will be "amazing."

This adds up to considerably more than we did at a beach one summer. We had a sore throat and the sun that July was bright and blazing hot. It seemed to us that it might easily fry any bacteria that might be macerating those membranes of ours. We did have a vague notion that the ultra violet rays plus the heat might get rid of the infection.

So, lying on the beach, we opened wide and let the sunshine in on our tonsils. But we cannot say the results were amazing. Anyhow, we gave it up with the feeling that we hadn't proved our theory.

It just goes to show that genius is mostly persistence. We wish we knew how Dr. Eagle explains going around with his mouth open and his tongue out, how he keeps the rays on the target, and so on. But it's good to know that sunshine on the larynx is good for sore throat. To know for sure, that is.

BONDED DECIBELS

The way Dr. Verno O. Knudson of the University of California sees it, it's the noise and the people—not the contents of the glass—that generates a hangover. It's the decibels, not the liquid dynamite, he says.

Some of his supporting evidence seems to fall short of bolstering his case, but it's interesting. For instance, a roofful of 200 people after the third round, he says, will jolt the recorders at 90 decibels. A major traffic artery in New York City, he adds, measures only 30 decibels. Dr. Knudson's thesis is that those who feel headachy, dizzy and nauseated the following morning are actually victims of a sort of combat fatigue.

It would be interesting to hear Dr. Knudson's explanation of the state of heavy solo drinkers.

headresses, and carried old-fashioned bouquets of yellow rosebuds. Mr. James Brady, brother of the bride, was best man; and Messrs. Samuel Baiocchi, Edgely, and Charles Breese, Bristol, were ushers.

The bride's mother selected a grey gown with navy accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue gown with grey accessories. Both wore corsages of red rosebuds.

A wedding breakfast followed for the families and the members of the bridal party at the Oakford Hotel, Neshaminy Falls. At seven o'clock, a reception was held in Sons of Italy hall, Bristol, for 150 guests.

The bride wore a three-piece blue ensemble and a pagoda peak hat to match, as a traveling costume, when the couple departed for a honeymoon trip by motor through New York state.

Mr. Virgulti has been recalled to duty in the U. S. Navy, Feb. 27th. While her husband is in the service, Mrs. Virgulti will reside with her mother.

school building, was presented. Elementary teachers of Bensalem and Bristol townships met together; and the Bensalem high school teachers met in the school library. The board approved adjustment of teachers' salaries to conform with a recent act of the legislature. Eight teachers are affected.

There was also reviewed a letter from the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, relative to making application for subsidy for municipal authority building project.

The directors reviewed new legislation on assessment. The purpose in so doing is to ask the County Board of Assessment for revision in current assessment figure. The total donation of Bensalem school pupils in the "March of Dimes" this year was listed at $339.41, an increase from the $306 of last term.

Mrs. Vansant informed the board of the organization of the "Citizens Committee for the Public Schools" of Bensalem township. All bills were ordered paid.

Fire in Closet Damages Bath Street Residence

A fire which caused $500 damage, broke out yesterday afternoon in a third floor closet in the home of Martin Healey, Sr., of 573 Bath street.

Mrs. Dominic Marucci, 31-year-old housewife, of 579 Bath street, detected the blaze and called the firemen, who arrived at 3.05 p. m. Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman stated that the cause of the fire was unknown and that the damage was confined to the third floor.

The house was unoccupied when the firemen arrived. Mrs. Healey returned home to find the firemen extinguishing the flames. Her son, Martin, Jr., 7, was attending school at the time.

The fire engine returned to the station at 3.30 p. m.

The Bristol firemen extinguished four other small grass fires, yesterday: one behind Johnson's Garage on Farragut avenue at 10.22 a. m.; at State road and River road, at 3.45 p. m.; at the Atlantic Tea Co., on Jefferson avenue, at 5.20 p. m.; at Maple and Otter streets, at 6.45 p. m.

Hospital president, James E. Harris, for the organization, commented, "It is indeed gratifying to receive such a report as this from one of our local major industries. The payment of the company pledge in full at this early date is not only very inspiring, but also assures the organization of an adequate needed reserve with which to work. Industry was counted upon to maintain the working capital of the organization in a substantial state until such time as the people and the workers of the community could fulfill their payment plans and pledges. Industry is rapidly fulfilling their assigned obligations."

the Transport Workers Union, Local 234, CIO, and the company waived a hearing on the complaint and consented to entry of the waiver of disallowance.

Short estimated that the total unauthorized wages paid to the employees was approximately $42,000 for the entire period, and under WSB enforcement policies, the WSB can recommend disallowance of the entire amount or any part of the illegal wage payments for income tax purposes.

However, in this case the Commission took into account mitigating circumstances including voluntary disclosure and the cooperation of the company in getting into compliance and effecting settlement, and found that the unauthorized payment was confined to approximately 10 weeks.

Under WSB enforcement procedures, investigators of the Wage & Hour Division of the Department of Labor conduct "spot checks" and investigations to determine compliance with wage regulations.

Hearings are held by the Regional Enforcement Commission on complaints issued by the Regional Counsel to determine whether there has been a violation of WSB regulations and what penalties should be invoked. An appeal can be taken from the Regional Enforcement Commission's decision to the National Enforcement Commission in Washington, D. C.

made for the employment of a firm—Collings Co.

Last Friday evening, the board met to open bids for steel for the proposed new junior-senior high school. Nine bids were received and opened publicly and turned over to the chairman of the building committee, George H. Peters, whose committee together with the architects were instructed to examine and evaluate them and to advise the board last evening. The contract was awarded to the Reading Metal Kraft Company, Reading for $85,147.

On Friday evening, bids for fuel oil for the high school were opened. Out of a group of four bidders, the award was made to Adeo Heat of Oakford.

The request of the Brownies for use of the school bus was granted, provided all expenses were defrayed by them.

The school board authorized pay for extra hours put in by coaches of inter-scholastic teams. Dr. Heckman was instructed to have the loyalty oath administered in March to all school employees which includes substitutes, janitors, bus drivers, secretaries, etc. Final plans of the proposed new junior-senior high school will be presented by the architects for inspection by the Board at the regular meeting March 27th.

The company is spending $215,000 for line construction this year and it is expected enough will be completed by April to provide for most of those now waiting, with a few having to wait until July, the company said.

At the present time, the Langhorne office serves 2543 subscribers who have 2,976 telephones. Ten years ago, there were 918 subscribers, with 1,077 telephones.

State Police from Langhorne, Bensalem township police, and Chief County Detective Fred H. Kohler, Doylestown, conducted the raid.

The prosecutor, Trooper Keith R. Dane, of the Langhorne sub-station, was the only witness at the hearing. He testified that sixty frequenters of the place when it was raided, were arrested and had been fined $25 and costs. Approximately $430 in cash taken from the dice table was confiscated, in addition to approximately $4,300 that was turned over by the frequenters and the alleged principals.

submitted to the borough sewer engineer, had been approved, and would not interfere with the proposed sewer lines. The new line will meet other lines now on Trenton avenue which run to Langhorne and will be large enough to take care of any residential growth north of Morrisville.

Councilman Neal Nolan requested that he be placed on record in the minutes of the previous meeting as opposing the action taken by council in permitting the borough tax collector to hire a collection agent to collect delinquent taxes. Nolan reported that he was not present when the ordinance was voted upon.

He also raised an objection to action taken by council in passing on the tax collector's remission list since they did not have copies of the list before them.

Councilman William Anderson reported that William H. Boardman, recently appointed by council to draw specifications for the new borough well, planned to submit the specifications within a week. Boardman also informed Anderson, it was reported, that even if the well will give one million gallons of water a day, he does not believe that the borough water lines will carry the water. The pressure will be available but the six-inch lines will not carry the volume, he says.

The Fairless Motor Co. asked permission to cut the curb in front of their property on W. Bridge street which is being developed as a used car lot. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Councilman Albert Greco moved that Francis avenue be opened from Barclay avenue to Bridge street. He argued that since the same had been done last year on Jessie and Ida avenues and should be done for the prospective builders on this street.

Councilmen Harold Kendall and Nolan replied that they felt that this was establishing a dangerous precedent and would have to be done for any builder who requested such action in the future. Greco agreed to rescind the motion and refer the matter to the Street Committee.

way being specifically objected to is that section which is planned to build from Snipes Corner to about half-way between Yardley and Morrisville. It is stated that the route has not been definitely selected by the State Highway department. The residents in the Lower Makefield township therefore, think it an opportune time to express their opposition.

The proposed route, according to those familiar with the plans, will necessitate the tearing down of perhaps a dozen or more residences and the elimination of a number of foundations on which residences are yet to be built. An alternative route is being mapped and will be suggested to the highway authorities.

Arnold C. Pierce, president of the Lower Makefield Civic Association, is heading the movement and is organizing a committee of 10 or 12 members, who will then solicit the support of others, members of the legislature from the district.

Families affected by the disease, he said, had been extremely cooperative in observing the quarantine placed upon their homes, although it had worked hardship in some cases upon the breadwinner.

The principal centers of the disease in the area Mr. Staudenmayer said, are in Bensalem, Bristol, and Falls townships, each of which have four cases, and in Middletown township, with three. The other five cases are scattered.

The health officer emphasized the disease had not reached epidemic proportions; the modern "miracle" drugs had proved effective in combating it, and fatalities are unlikely.

We've 93 Candles on Our Cake!

Your A&P is 93 years young this week. For it was about this time in 1859 that our founder, George Huntington Hartford, proudly opened the doors of his modest little store on Vesey Street in downtown New York, the forerunner of today's A&P.

Even with his vision, we suppose he'd be surprised to see how his little business has grown.

We think he'd be proud, though, to know that the basic idea that guided him then, "to bring more good food to more people for less money," has been the reason for our growth. We pledge to maintain this principle as long as there's an A&P!

BRISTOL JUNIORS LOSE TO TRENTON BY SCORE OF 56-25

TRENTON, Feb. 14 — Trenton Catholic Junior High handed the Bristol Junior High team a 56-25 shellacking yesterday on the winner's court.

Bristol was in the game in the first quarter only when it built up a 2-point lead, 14-12. However, in the second session, Trenton Catholic's defense tightened and only Al Caucci scored a field goal for Bristol while the Trenton team went out in front by a 26-14 score.

From there in, it was just a matter of rolling up the score.

Piotrowski and Juniak led Trenton Catholic in scoring with 14 points each while Caucci and Tom Brescia had 8 points each for Bristol.

Text: "For there is one God, and one Mediator Between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." (1. Timothy 2:5, 6).

Here is a strong affirmation—"There is one God." All other objects that men worship as gods are merely idols. Here also is a sure approach. The desire of many is to find and enjoy God in this life so that they might enjoy Him forever. Thank God this is possible. There is a Mediator, yea, one Mediator. So the Bible declares! He is the man Christ Jesus. We read nothing in the Scriptures of men, women or angels as mediators. Jesus alone stands between the sinner and God. Trust Him! He alone is our satisfying assurance.

The leaders of Troop No. 2 are Mrs. Edward Priestley, Mrs. Elwood Bilger and Mrs. Fred Stewart, Jr. Miss Hilda M. Pope, Beaver street, underwent an operation in Hahnemann Hospital, Phila., on Tuesday.

Ideals of Washington And Lincoln Emphasized

NEWTOWN, Feb. 14—"Americanism" being the theme of the month for American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Harry Flagg spoke at the meeting of Morrell Smith Post Auxiliary, Monday evening, in the Post home, emphasizing the ideals of Lincoln and Washington. She emphasized the fact that "we, in this country have opportunities available to succeed on our own, that do not exist elsewhere."

Mrs. James Dawson, of the rehabilitation committee, reported 11 dinner dresses, one evening dress, and 11 other dresses have been sent to Coatesville Hospital, for use of the women there in various entertainments. She asked that toilet articles be sent to Valley Forge Hospital, and the Auxiliary voted to have a shower at the March meeting. Mrs. Dawson announced a party will be given in April in one of the closed tuberculosis wards at that hospital, members of the Langhorne Auxiliary joining with the Newtown unit in giving this party.

Plans are being made to hold a sauer kraut supper in the Post home in March, with Mrs. James A. Dawson as chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Ella McIntyre was appointed chairman of music.

The Auxiliary voted to back 100% the fluoridation of Newtown water supply as urged by Council Rock Health Council.

The bi-county council meeting will be Feb. 21st in Narberth. Hostesses were Mrs. Harvey Gray, Mrs. Harold Sams and Mrs. Charles Huber.

Lawn Care Discussed Before Garden Club

NEWTOWN, Feb. 14—Miss Julia Balderston was hostess to Newtown Garden Club Friday. Mrs. Russell Janney, president, opened the meeting with the reading of a poem, "Winter Garden."

Mrs. William Stuckert reported she had the book "Nature's Way" purchased in memory of Mrs. Grace Naylor, to be placed in Wycombe Library, and it was passed among the members for their perusal.

Miss Helen Pearson announced that plans are well under way for the April 4th meeting at which time Newtown club will be host to the garden clubs and conservation and garden committees, Bucks Co. Federation of Womens Clubs. The speaker will be Stevenson Fletcher, principal of Newtown Friends School.

Sums were voted to the Bowman's Hill preserve and the American Red Cross. Gifts of flowers, vegetables, etc. (47 in all) had been given out during the past month.

Miss Helen Pearson presented a talk on lawn care, this experience being gained from the care of three lawns in different locations and conditions, Pocono Mountains, Philadelphia and Newtown. The location of lawns as to shade, elevations, etc., enter into this problem. "One must feed, feed, feed lawns," said Miss Pearson. "Also the length to mow lawns is another important item. It takes plenty of varied kinds of seed to suit particular locations." Her present lawn, when she moved to Newtown in April 1947 consisted of mostly ashes and cement, covered with 3 or 4 inches of top soil. Miss Pearson says if she had known at that time as much as she does now of lawn care, she would have had it dug to six or eight inches deep, then dusted with lime and have had it sodded. Now she seeds it every fall and also in early spring. Her motto is to "weed, feed, seed," not necessarily in that order however.

A round table discussion was led by Mrs. Janney on favorite garden programs on television or radio.

DISCOVERS PALACE ON REMOTE ISLAND

Discoverer, A. C. Doyle,
Says It Dates to Time of
Queen of Sheba

70 MILES FROM SALALA

By John Cammell
INS Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Feb. 14 — (INS) — Adrian Conan Doyle, 40-year-old son of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle—creator of the world famous detective Sherlock Holmes—claims to have discovered a palace dating back to the Queen of Sheba on a remote island in the Indian Ocean.

Conan Doyle and his wife, Anna, recently returned to London from a six-month expedition of little-known islands off the east coast of Africa.
In a tiny schooner "loaded with foodstuffs, harpoons, rifles and spades" and three natives to help, they hunted monstrous fish in the archipelago lying between Zanzibar and Madagascar. Conan Doyle
said:

"The whole of this area is of universal tropical beauty, but underneath that beauty there is everywhere death and agony of the most indescribable kind.
"In the seas there are small creatures more horrible than any of the secret weapons of men. If you are stung by them it is a justification for suicide. The pain drives you completely mad.

"One night, off one of the islands, in the inky black sea we saw swimming towards us a huge blob of phosphorescence an enormous bluish fire, deep under the surface, which as it approached, lit up the bottom of the ship.
"We saw, swimming in it, huge sharks, barracuda, and giant manta fish, some of them 30 feet across.
It went on all night. Then as the tide turned, the phenomenon disappeared."

On the island of Songa-Manara, the Conan DoYLES found rotting, in thick jungle, the ruins of a palace which dates back to the time of the Queen of Sheba. Conan Doyle,
said:

"It is possible that the Queen actually owned the palace. Anyhow, we think it is likely to prove one of the most important archaeological finds of the century.
"The fast dying tribes of natives who inhabit this part call it 'the house of the Devil.'
"To reach it we hacked our way through a mile of the thickest juncgle. Thorns like primitive hands reached out and tore the shirt from your back.

"Then we found the palace.
"It is only 70 miles from the port of Salala, which is known to have been the coastal terminal for King Solomon's mines. Archeologists still know nothing about it. Its native name is understandable. There is about it an air of most incredible evil and dread."
The Conan DoYLES carried out their six-month trip "to prove that adventure is not dead, and to get away from the curse of modern civilization, politics, and rumors of war."

Originally there were four months between presidential elections and the inauguration to allow for slow methods of communication and transportation.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Stevenson—Pro and Con

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.

On the Democratic side the most interesting national development of the past week is the shift in position of the pro-Roosevelt New Deal journalists, radio commentators and politicians as distinguished from the pro-Truman Fair Deal journalists, radio commentators and politicians. The difference between these groups is not in principle or direction. The difference is that the first group, though linked with his Administration, has neither personal nor political admiration nor loyalty for Mr. Truman, while the other group has both.

Until a short time ago, the first group felt that Mr. Truman intended to force his own renomination and that that meant certain defeat. It also left them out on a limb with no place to go, and a number of their left-wing leaders were exceedingly bitter in their comments on the President. The change came a few days after Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois had a conference with Mr. Truman at the White House. Though not the least supporting evidence was produced, at once over the air and in the press, statements went out to the effect that Mr. Truman having determined not to run and, unable to lure Chief Justice Vinson off the bench, had decided upon Governor Stevenson as the Democratic nominee.

Accompanying these statements was a strong "buildup" of Governor Stevenson as a great vote-getter and administrator. Also accompanying were effusive eulogies of Mr. Truman as a noble and genuinely patriotic man in thus "sacrificing" himself for his party and the country—eulogies in striking contrast to the Truman criticisms previously emanating from the same people. Upon this basis a considerable boom for Mr. Stevenson has been launched. Beyond question, he has certain assets not to be lightly dismissed. Among these can be listed: (1) Relative youth and an attractive personality; (2) election as governor in 1948 by a record-breaking majority, running nearly 600,000 votes ahead of Mr. Truman; (3) no personal or political enemies and a clean record; (4) real ability as a campaigner.

On the other side of the ledger are: (1) The fact that his chief boosters are leaders of the so-called Americans for Democratic Action, of which left-wing organization he is a member; (2) that he is not only New Deal but Fair Deal as well; that he is identified with their spending policies and therefore incapable of reversing our progress toward national insolvency. In other words, his election would merely continue for four more years—24 in all—the socialistic Administrations which began in 1933. Two other points are made against Mr. Stevenson as a candidate: (1) That he is a divorced man; (2) that he was a friend of Mr. Alger Hiss; that in his first trial he appeared as a character witness for him; that he knew him in the Harvard Law School, in the State Department and at San Francisco.

As to the divorce, friends of Mr. Stevenson assert there was nothing even remotely discreditable to him about it, and that it will in no way do him political damage. As to his friendship with Mr. Hiss, while they concede this will do him no good, the conviction is strong that no fair-minded man could possibly believe Mr. Stevenson had any knowledge of Mr. Hiss's communistic affiliations and activities. In the event of Mr. Stevenson's nomination, it does not seem likely that his opponents would make much of either of these points in the campaign, although certainly they would not be neglected. But Mr. Stevenson's candidacy would offer the Republicans three major issues upon which to hammer: (1) That he had been handpicked by Mr. Truman and hence would be committed to the Truman policies and the Fair Deal program; (2) that he would have the same labor-boss support which has dominated the White House for the last eighteen years; (3) that Mr. Stevenson, himself a professed "liberal," would not appeal to the Democratic conservatives who have voted Republican in the last three elections as a protest against policies they regard as unsound; (4) that Mr. Stevenson, while personally less offensive to the South than Mr. Truman, would be politically almost as hard to take because his stand on the FEPA program is essentially the same.

These things, along with the fact that his most ardent friends agree his great 1948 majority was largely due to the weakness of his Republican opponent, and the unsavory record of his administration, naturally are not mentioned by his present boosters. But they are bound to be before the convention meets and heavily dwelt on later, should he become the nominee.

Nevertheless, to a considerable number of Democratic politicians unenthusiastic about either Senator Kefauver, of Tennessee; Senator Kerr, of Oklahoma, or the 74-year-old Vice President Barkley, at the moment Mr. Stevenson seems the best bet.

For this view there is certain justification. However, there is ample time between now and July for the Stevenson boom either to expand or disappear. And it must be kept in mind that both Mr. Truman and Mr. Stevenson firmly insist that the former gave no hint about his own intentions at their conference, nor made any commitment to Mr. Stevenson. In fairness to the latter, it should be stated that none was asked. Regardless of the ballyhoo, he is entitled to belief when he says he is not now a candidate—though that does not mean he will not be.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. bake sale on Feb. 15th, at a furniture mart in Newtown.

Council Rock high school conducted a special assembly this week, and "Ed" Steinmetz and "Don" Reed were the stars of a thrilling trampoline act.

They presented a brief history on the development of the trampoline, while presenting from the simple elementary stunts to the most difficult and intricate performance of coordination, timing and balance. They also demonstrated various steps necessary to become a ground tumbler and trampoline performer. "Ed" and "Don" are considered among the foremost trampoline artists of the country. "Ed" has the distinction of being the only acrobat who does a standing backward somersault while holding 50 pounds of extra weight in his hands. One of the highlights of their program is having volunteers from the audience learn the simple stunts and routines, which can be learned quickly if the instructions are followed. Their apparatus is the same make and type used by the Army and Navy during the war. It is also used by colleges, high schools and various athletic associations throughout the world.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1952,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Edward P. Morgan, director of enforcement of the office of Price Stabilization, doesn't like his job. At least this is what he told Senator Andrew F. Schoepel, of Kansas, in a lengthy letter, which the Senator had reprinted in the Congressional Record.

Why Morgan doesn't quit if he is unhappy is not explained. His boss, Michael Disalle, director of OPS, has resigned. Morgan ought to do so, too, so that Disalle's successor can pick his own first team.

In writing Schoepel, Morgan was complaining because the Senator criticized OPS enforcement tactics in connection with meat dealers over the country. The day he got his OPS job, Morgan started talking about the hundreds of violations in meat price ceilings, and how he was going to send dealers by the gross to the lockup. Few if any have gone, and the reasons, therefore, for keeping Morgan and his staff on the Federal payroll escape me.

Morgan wrote Schoepel: "I am trying to do the best job I know how, and if you know anyone who would like to have my job, let me know, and I'll try to help him get it."

Generous of him, but it hardly befits the character of his previous activities. For a man who hates to work for the government, he has a long record of living off us taxpayers. For instance, he was counsel for the congressional committee that investigated Pearl Harbor. Even more recently, he saved the administration's face, or so he thought, as chief counsel for the Tydings Committee which made a fiasco in its investigation of charges of Communism in the State Department.

Morgan told Schoepel that he did not seek his present job, nor the Pearl Harbor nor Tydings jobs. Nevertheless he took all three of them; and he must have been standing around where he could be seen or he'd never have gotten any of them.

The truth is that Morgan is a politician, despite seven years in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, where the training and activity leads most agents and supervisors away from politics.

What stung Morgan more than anything else in the Schoepel charges was the one that accused him of being soft on Communists.

Morgan noted in his letter that he had made more than 100 speeches on Communism since leaving the FBI; in addition, he takes credit for having convinced the state legislature in Maryland that it should enact an anti-Communist law. This may come as something of a surprise to a number of hard working members of that state's legislature who not only wrote the anti-Communist law but pushed it, against tough and unfair opposition, onto the statute books.

to say that in an interview with three reporters in New York he observed that someone was trying to destroy the entire stabilization program. Again he refrained from specifics, except to say that the American Meat Institute has been uncooperative.

Schoepel doesn't recall the "many" times he has been mistreated by the American press, although Morgan is sure he has been.

Love and Telephones

It's not news that the number of marriages is growing by leaps and bounds these days. More marriages mean more families; more families mean more homes; more homes mean the need for more and more telephones. Love is a wonderful thing, but it has the Telephone Company working like crazy to keep up with it! Add to love the requirements of national defense and a booming Pennsylvania—and you have the reasons why 1952 will be such a big year in the continuing telephone expansion program.

"Open Sesame..."

Courtesy Opens the Line

"All doors are open to courtesy" ... A modern version of this old proverb would have to include party-line telephones, for they, too, are open to courtesy. When you keep calls brief, for example, and wait a few minutes between each of several calls that you are making, your courtesy works two ways: it not only opens the party-line for others, but also opens the line for others to reach you with calls you would not want to miss.

Conventions... by Cable!

This year's political conventions will be witnessed by more people in more places than anyone would have dreamed of just a few short years ago. The "extra" audience, of course, consists of the millions who will have front-row seats via television. And the telecasts themselves will journey coast-to-coast via the Bell System's network of coaxial cable lines and Radio-Relay channels... both of which can carry, in addition to transcontinental TV programs, thousands upon thousands of Long Distance telephone calls.

NESHAMINY DIST TO FORM AUTHORITY FOR SCHOOL AREA

World Day of Prayer To Be Observed Friday, Feb. 29th

The World Day of Prayer services will be held in Bethel A. M. E. Church, Friday, February 29th, at four p. m. and eight p. m. The four o'clock service will be for children.

World Day of Prayer is observed every year on the first Friday in Lent. This observance was started many years ago by Christian women who felt the great need in this world for all people to unite their hearts and their prayers. Started in the United States in 1887, the response to the idea was so great that in 1927 a special day was decided upon as a world-wide day of prayer. From dawn on the Fiji Islands to dusk on the Arctic St. Lawrence, women and men of all countries unite in services of prayer and praise, penitence and dedication. Since 1942 the preparation of these programs has been the task of the World Day of Prayer Committee of the United Council of Christian Women.

The purpose of the observance is to unite Christians around the world in prayer, and in the United States to make an offering to support interdenominational missions at home and abroad.

The program for 1952 comes from the migrants, sharecroppers and Indians in the U. S. A. and those who live close to the earth in other lands. The offering is divided equally between the Division of Foreign Missions and the Division of Home Missions who allocate it for interdenominational work as follows: Home Missions: Christian education for American Indians; training pastors and leaders, and developing Christian community life among sharecroppers; and religious and social ministry to agricultural migrant families. Foreign Missions: Christian literature for women and children in India, Burma, Japan, Egypt, Africa and Latin America; the Committee on Friendly Relations among Foreign Students here in America; education of Christian leaders in interdenominational Christian Colleges in the Orient.

Morrisville Community Development Corp. to Meet With Council

CONDUIT PERMISSION

MORRISVILLE, Feb. 14 — A meeting is to be held Monday evening, February 18th, between borough council and the Morrisville Community Development Corp. in borough hall at eight o'clock.

The meeting is a result of a request by Solicitor Sydney Cadwallader, who represented the group. Cadwallader reported that the corporation is meeting several obstacles in its efforts to project Washington street across Bridge street and through to Union street.

The new street would pass a parking lot, now planned, which would be a needed addition to the business center. The meeting was requested to discuss the problem with the possibility of some condemnation action.

Representatives of the Bell Telephone Co. asked permission to install an underground conduit in the borough. The proposed conduit would run from Stockham avenue north to Maple avenue, then east to Pennsylvania avenue and north to Trenton avenue. This new project is designed to relieve the tremendous burden now placed on the present lines.

It was reported that the plans.

SUN ON THE LARYNX

Believe it or not—and it may seem incredible—we were once on the verge of making an important medical discovery. If we had pursued our logic further, we might have been one of those rare laymen who have benefited humankind by advancing the science of medicine.

We say this on the authority of Dr. Watt Eagle, Duke University otolaryngologist. Not that he ever heard of our experiment, or even of us, but that he has just publicly suggested a new treatment for throat infections. It is a specific treatment that he considers more effective than fulfomamides and other antibiotics used in such cases.

All you do is open your mouth and expose your throat to direct sunlight in the morning and again in the afternoon for several days. Well, not quite all. The exposure should go on for five minutes each time.

At the end of that period, the tongue should be exposed for another five minutes. Dr. Eagle says you must be careful to expose the root to the sun. Don't let this and the results, he says, will be "amazing."

This adds up to considerably more than we did at a beach one summer. We had a sore throat and the sun that July was bright and blazing hot. It seemed to us that it might easily fry any bacteria that might be macerating those membranes of ours. We did have a vague notion that the ultra violet rays plus the heat might get rid of the infection.

So, lying on the beach, we opened wide and let the sunshine in on our tonsils. But we cannot say the results were amazing. Anyhow, we gave it up with the feeling that we hadn't proved our theory.

It just goes to show that genius is mostly persistence. We wish we knew how Dr. Eagle explains going around with his mouth open and his tongue out, how he keeps the rays on the target, and so on. But it's good to know that sunshine on the larynx is good for sore throat. To know for sure, that is.

BONDED DECIBELS

The way Dr. Vern O. Knudson of the University of California sees it, it's the noise and the people—not the contents of the glass—that generates a hangover. It's the decibels, not the liquid dynamite, he says.

Some of his supporting evidence seems to fall short of bolstering his case, but it's interesting. For instance, a roofful of 200 people after the third round, he says, will foil the recorders at 90 decibels. A major traffic artery in New York City, he adds, measures only 30 decibels. Dr. Knudson's thesis is that those who feel headachy, dizzy and nauseated the following morning are actually victims of a sort of combat fatigue.

It would be interesting to hear Dr. Knudson's explanation of the state of heavy solo drinkers.

Hospital president, James E. Harris, for the organization, commented, "It is indeed gratifying to receive such a report as this from one of our local major industries. The payment of the company pledge in full at this early date is not only very inspiring, but also assures the organization of an adequate needed reserve with which to work. Industry was counted upon to maintain the working capital of the organization in a substantial state until such time as the people and the workers of the community could fulfill their payment plans and pledges. Industry is rapidly fulfilling their assigned obligations."

Submitted to the borough sewer engineer, had been approved, and would not interfere with the proposed sewer lines. The new line will meet other lines now on Trenton avenue which run to Langhorne and will be large enough to take care of any residential growth north of Morrisville.

the Transport Workers Union, Local 234, CIO, and the company waived a hearing on the complaint and consented to entry of the waiver of disallowance.

Short estimated that the total unauthorized wages paid to the employees was approximately $42,000 for the entire period, and under WSB enforcement policies, the WSB can recommend disallowance of the entire amount or any part of the illegal wage payments for income tax purposes.

However, in this case the Commission took into account mitigating circumstances including voluntary disclosure and the cooperation of the company in getting into compliance and effecting settlement, and found that the unauthorized payment was confined to approximately 10 weeks.

Under WSB enforcement procedures, investigators of the Wage & Hour Division of the Department of Labor conduct "spot checks" and investigations to determine compliance with wage regulations.

Hearings are held by the Regional Enforcement Commission on complaints issued by the Regional Council to determine whether there has been a violation of WSB regulations and what penalties should be invoked. An appeal can be taken from the Regional Enforcement Commission's decision to the National Enforcement Commission in Washington, D. C.

It is stated that the route has not been definitely selected by the State Highway department. The proposed route, according to those familiar with the plans, will necessitate the tearing down of perhaps a dozen or more residences and the elimination of a number of foundations on which residences are yet to be built. Families affected by the disease, he said, had been extremely cooperative in observing the quarantine placed upon their homes, although it had worked hardship in some cases upon the breadwinner.

The principal centers of the disease in the area Mr. Staudenmayer said, are in Bensalem, Bristol, and Falls townships, each of which have four cases, and in Middletown township, with three. The other five cases are scattered.

The health officer emphasized the disease had not reached epidemic proportions; the modern "miracle" drugs had proved effective in combating it, and fatalities are unlikely.

Your A&P is 93 years young this week. For it was about this time in 1859 that our founder, George Huntington Hartford, proudly opened the doors of his modest little store on Vesey Street in downtown New York, the forerunner of today's A&P.

Even with his vision, we suppose he'd be surprised to see how his little business has grown.

We think he'd be proud, though, to know that the basic idea that guided him then, "to bring more good food to more people for less money," has been the reason for our growth. We pledge to maintain this principle as long as there's an A&P!

DISCOL JUNIORS LOSE TO TRENTON BY SCORE OF 56-25

TRENTON, Feb. 14 — Trenton Catholic Junior High handed the Bristol Junior High team a 56-25 shellacking yesterday on the winner's court.

Bristol was in the game in the first quarter only when it built up a 2-point lead, 14-12. However, in the second session, Trenton Catholic's defense tightened and only Al Caucci scored a field goal for Bristol while the Trenton team went out in front by a 26-14 score.

From there in, it was just a matter of rolling up the score.

Piotrowski and Juniak led Trenton Catholic in scoring with 14 points each while Caucci and Tom Brescia had 3 points each for Bristol.

Today's Quiet Moment

Text: "For there is one God, and one Mediator Between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." (1. Timothy 2:5, 6).

Here is a strong affirmation—"There is one God." All other objects that men worship as gods are merely idols. Here also is a sure approach. The desire of many is to find and enjoy God in this life so that they might enjoy Him forever. Thank God this is possible. There is a Mediator, yea, one Mediator. So the Bible declares! He is the man Christ Jesus. We read nothing in the Scriptures of men, women or angels as mediators. Jesus alone stands between the sinner and God. Trust Him! He alone is our satisfying assurance.

The leaders of Troop No. 2 are Mrs. Edward Priestley, Mrs. Elwood Bilger and Mrs. Fred Stewart, Jr. Miss Hilda M. Pope, Beaver street, underwent an operation in Hahnemann Hospital, Phila., on Tuesday.

Ideals of Washington And Lincoln Emphasized

NEWTOWN, Feb. 14—"Americanism" being the theme of the month for American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Harry Flagg spoke at the meeting of Morrell Smith Post Auxiliary, Monday evening, in the Post home, emphasizing the ideals of Lincoln and Washington. She emphasized the fact that "we, in this country have opportunities available to succeed on our own, that do not exist elsewhere."

Mrs. James Dawson, of the rehabilitation committee, reported 11 dinner dresses, one evening dress, and 11 other dresses have been sent to Coatesville Hospital, for use of the women there in various entertainments. She asked that toilet articles be sent to Valley Forge Hospital, and the Auxiliary voted to have a shower at the March meeting. Mrs. Dawson announced a party will be given in April in one of the closed tuberculosis wards at that hospital, members of the Langhorne Auxiliary joining with the Newtown unit in giving this party.

Plans are being made to hold a sauer kraut supper in the Post home in March, with Mrs. James A. Dawson as chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Ella McIntyre was appointed chairman of music.

The Auxiliary voted to back 100% the fluoridation of Newtown water supply as urged by Council Rock Health Council.

The bi-county council meeting will be Feb. 21st in Narberth. Hostesses were Mrs. Harvey Gray, Mrs. Harold Sams and Mrs. Charles Huber.

Lawn Care Discussed Before Garden Club

NEWTOWN, Feb. 14—Miss Julia Balderston was hostess to Newtown Garden Club Friday. Mrs. Russell Janney, president, opened the meeting with the reading of a poem, "Winter Garden."

Mrs. William Stuckert reported she had the book "Nature's Way" purchased in memory of Mrs. Grace Naylor, to be placed in Wycombe Library, and it was passed among the members for their perusal.

Miss Helen Pearson announced that plans are well under way for the April 14th meeting at which time Newtown club will be host to the garden clubs and conservation and garden committees, Bucks Co. Federation of Womens Clubs. The speaker will be Stevenson Fletcher, principal of Newtown Friends School.

Sums were voted to the Bowman's Hill preserve and the American Red Cross. Gifts of flowers, vegetables, etc. (47 in all) had been given out during the past month.

Miss Helen Pearson presented a talk on lawn care, this experience being gained from the care of three lawns in different locations and conditions, Pocono Mountains, Philadelphia and Newtown. The location of lawns as to shade, elevations, etc., enter into this problem. "One must feed, feed, feed lawns" said Miss Pearson. "Also the length to mow lawns is another important item. It takes plenty of varied kinds of seed to suit particular locations."

Her present lawn, when she moved to Newtown in April 1947 consisted of mostly ashes and cement, covered with 3 or 4 inches of top soil. Miss Pearson says if she had known at that time as much as she does now of lawn care, she would have had it dug to six or eight inches deep, then dusted with lime and have had it sodded. Now she seeds it every fall and also in early spring. Her motto is to "weed, feed, seed," not necessarily in that order however.

A round table discussion was led by Mrs. Janney on favorite garden programs on television or radio.

OUR GANG COMEDY

Explains Meaning of The New Scout Theme

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Feb. 14—On Monday evening, Scout troop 12 held "open house" at Cornwells Methodist Church. The program opened with entrance of the color guard and pledge of allegiance with audience participation led by Norman Lutkefetter, Eddington.

Raymond Hoxworth, Bucks County Scout executive, gave a talk on facilities and equipment at Camp Ockanickon. James Sweeney, lower Bucks district chairman, gave a talk on the meaning of the new scout theme, "Forward on Liberty's Team."

After the showing of a film "The Years Between", each patrol gave a demonstration. The Hawk patrol demonstrated a reflector oven and its uses; Panther patrol, first aid; Flying Eagle patrol trail signs and compass reading; Wolf patrol the tying of tenderfoot knots and their uses. Under direction of assistant scoutmaster, William Peacock, Scouts Samuel Muddle, Robert Dwyer, John Boral, "Bill" Montgomery, "Larry" and "Jack" Maher, Curtis Conn, Raymond Brown, Richard Graven, Fred Mitchell, George Kurowski and William Hayes lashed together a signal tower.

A junior leader ceremony was held with the following Scouts in-stalled: Norman Lutkefetter, senior patrol leader; Raymond Brown, Robert Dwyer, William H. Hayes and William Montgomery, patrol leaders; Richard Graven, scribe; Rae Anderson, quartermaster.

The closing ceremony was led by T. Minster with a rededication to the Scout oath and laws. Following the saying of grace by the Rev. Mr. Reinert of Cornwells Methodist Church, refreshments were served by the mothers of scouts.

DISCOVERS PALACE ON REMOTE ISLAND

Discoverer, A. C. Doyle,
Says It Dates to Time of
Queen of Sheba

70 MILES FROM SALALA

By John Camsell

NS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 14 — (INS) — Adrian Conan Doyle, 40-year-old son of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of the world famous detective Sherlock Holmes—claims to have discovered a palace dating back to the Queen of Sheba on a remote island in the Indian Ocean. Conan Doyle and his wife, Anna, recently returned to London from a six-month expedition of little-known islands off the east coast of Africa.

In a tiny schooner "loaded with foodstuffs, harpoons, rifles and spades" and three natives to help, they hunted monstrous fish in the archipelago lying between Zanzibar and Madagascar, Conan Doyle said.

"The whole of this area is of universal tropical beauty, but underneath that beauty there is everywhere death and agony of the most indescribable kind.

"In the seas there are small creatures more horrible than any of the secret weapons of men. If you are stung by them it is a justification for suicide. The pain drives you completely mad.

"One night, off one of the islands, in the inky black sea we saw swimming towards us a huge blob of phosphorescence an enormous bluish fire, deep under the surface, which as it approached, lit up the bottom of the ship.

"We saw, swimming in it, huge sharks, barracuda, and giant manta fish, some of them 30 feet across. It went on all night. Then as the tide turned, the phenomenon disappeared."

On the island of Songa-Manara, the Conan Doyles found rotting, in thick jungle, the ruins of a palace which dates back to the time of the Queen of Sheba, Conan Doyle, said.

"It is possible that the Queen actually owned the palace. Anyhow, we think it is likely to prove one of the most important archaeological finds of the century.

"The fast dying tribes of natives who inhabit this part call it 'the house of the Devil.'

"To reach it we hacked our way through a mile of the thickest jungle. Thorns like primitive hands reached out and tore the shirt from your back.

"Then we found the palace. "It is only 70 miles from the port of Salala, which is known to have been the coastal terminal for King Solomon's mines. Archeologists still know nothing about it. Its native name is understandable. There is about it an air of most incredible evil and dread."

their six-month trip "to prove that adventure is not dead, and to get away from the curse of modern civilization, politics, and rumors of war."

Originally there were four months between presidential elections and the inauguration to allow for slow methods of communication and transportation.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Stevenson—Pro and Con
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.

On the Democratic side the most interesting national development of the past week is the shift in position of the pro-Roosevelt New Deal journalists, radio commentators and politicians as distinguished from the pro-Truman Fair Deal journalists, radio commentators and politicians. The difference between these groups is not in principle or direction. The difference is that the first group, though linked with his Administration, has neither personal nor political admiration nor loyalty for Mr. Truman, while the other group has both.

Until a short time ago, the first group felt that Mr. Truman intended to force his own renomination and that that meant certain defeat. It also left them out on a limb with no place to go, and a number of their left-wing leaders were exceedingly bitter in their comments on the President. The change came a few days after Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois had a conference with Mr. Truman at the White House. Though not the least supporting evidence was produced, at once over the air and in the press, statements went out to the effect that Mr. Truman having determined not to run and, unable to lure Chief Justice Vinson off the bench, had decided upon Governor Stevenson as the Democratic nominee.

Accompanying these statements was a strong "buildup" of Governor Stevenson as a great vote-getter and administrator. Also accompanying were effusive eulogies of Mr. Truman as a noble and genuinely patriotic man in this "sacrificing" himself for his party and the country—eulogies in striking contrast to the Truman criticisms previously emanating from the same people. Upon this basis a considerable boom for Mr. Stevenson has been launched. Beyond question, he has certain assets not to be lightly dismissed. Among these can be listed: (1) Relative youth and an attractive personality; (2) election as governor in 1948 by a record-breaking majority, running nearly 600,000 votes ahead of Mr. Truman; (3) no personal or political enemies and a clean record; (4) real ability as a campaigner.

On the other side of the ledger are: (1) The fact that his chief boosters are leaders of the so-called Americans for Democratic Action, of which left-wing organization he is a member; (2) that he is not only New Deal but Fair Deal as well; that he is identified with their spending policies and therefore incapable of reversing our progress toward national insolvency. In other words, his election would merely continue for four more years—24 in all—the socialistic Administrations which began in 1933. Two other points are made against Mr. Stevenson as a candidate: (1) That he is a divorced man; (2) that he was a friend of Mr. Alger Hiss; that in his first trial he appeared as a character witness for him; that he knew him in the Harvard Law School, in the State Department and at San Francisco.

As to the divorce, friends of Mr. Stevenson assert there was nothing even remotely discreditable to him about it, and that it will in no way do him political damage. As to his friendship with Mr. Hiss, while they concede this will do him no good, the conviction is strong that no fair-minded man could possibly believe Mr. Stevenson had any knowledge of Mr. Hiss's communist affiliations and activities. In the event of Mr. Stevenson's nomination, it does not seem likely that his opponents would make much of either of these points in the campaign, although certainly they would not be neglected. But Mr. Stevenson's candidacy would offer the Republicans three major issues upon which to hammer: (1) That he had been handpicked by Mr. Truman and hence would be committed to the Truman policies and the Fair Deal program; (2) that he would have the same labor-boss support which has dominated the White House for the last eighteen years; (3) that Mr. Stevenson, himself a professed "liberal," would not appeal to the Democratic conservatives who have voted Republican in the last three elections as a protest against policies they regard as unsound; (4) that Mr. Stevenson, while personally less offensive to the South than Mr. Truman, would be politically almost as hard to take because his stand on the FEPA program is essentially the same.

These things, along with the fact that his most ardent friends agree his great 1948 majority was largely due to the weakness of his Republican opponent, and the unsavory record of his administration, naturally are not mentioned by his present boosters. But they are bound to be before the convention meets and heavily dwelt on later, should he become the nominee.

Nevertheless, to a considerable number of Democratic politicians unenthusiastic about either Senator Kefauver, of Tennessee; Senator Kerr, of Oklahoma, or the 74-year-old Vice President Barkley, at the moment Mr. Stevenson seems the best bet.

For this view there is certain justification. However, there is ample time between now and July for the Stevenson boom either to expand or disappear. And it must be kept in mind that both Mr. Truman and Mr. Stevenson firmly insist that the former gave no hint about his own intentions at their conference, nor made any commitment to Mr. Stevenson. In fairness to the latter, it should be stated that none was asked. Regardless of the ballyhoo, he is entitled to belief when he says he is not now a candidate—though that does not mean he will not be.

Council Rock high school conducted a special assembly this week, and "Ed" Steinmetz and "Don" Reed were the stars of a thrilling trampoline act.

They presented a brief history on the development of the trampoline, while presenting from the simple elementary stunts to the most difficult and intricate performance of coordination, timing and balance. They also demonstrated various steps necessary to become a ground tumbler and trampoline performer. "Ed" and "Don" are considered among the foremost trampoline artists of the country. "Ed" has the

quickly if the instructions are followed.

Their apparatus is the same make and type used by the Army and Navy during the war. It is also used by colleges, high schools and various athletic associations throughout the world.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1952,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Edward P. Morgan, director of enforcement of the office of Price Stabilization, doesn't like his job. At least this is what he told Senator Andrew F. Schoepel, of Kansas, in a lengthy letter which the Senator had reprinted in the Congressional Record.

Why Morgan doesn't quit if he is unhappy is not explained. His boss, Michael Disalle, director of OPS, has resigned. Morgan ought to do so, too, so that Disalle's successor can pick his own first team.

In writing Schoepel, Morgan was complaining because the Senator criticized OPS enforcement tactics in connection with meat dealers over the country. The day he got his OPS job, Morgan started talking about the hundreds of violations in meat price ceilings, and how he was going to send dealers by the gross to the lockup. Few if any have gone, and the reasons, therefore, for keeping Morgan and his staff on the Federal payroll escape me.

Morgan wrote Schoepel: "I am trying to do the best job I know how, and if you know anyone who would like to have my job, let me know, and I'll try to help him get it."

Generous of him, but it hardly befits the character of his previous activities. For a man who hates to work for the government, he has a long record of living off us taxpayers. For instance, he was counsel for the congressional committee that investigated Pearl Harbor. Even more recently, he saved the administration's face, or so he thought, as chief counsel for the Tydings Committee which made a fiasco in its investigation of charges of Communism in the State Department.

Morgan told Schoepel that he did not seek his present job, nor the Pearl Harbor nor Tydings jobs. Nevertheless he took all three of them; and he must have been standing around where he could be seen or he'd never have gotten any of them.

The truth is that Morgan is a politician, despite seven years in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, where the training and activity leads most agents and supervisors away from politics.

What stung Morgan more than anything else in the Schoepel charges was the one that accused him of being soft on Communists.

You've undoubtedly heard that the 1952 Pontiac is an outstanding performer—but unless you've actually driven it yourself you cannot fully appreciate how amazing this great car really is!

Only by taking the wheel and putting Pontiac's Dual-Range performance through its paces—personally—can you completely enjoy the thrill of having, under finger-tip control, two entirely different types of performance: quick, eager get-up-and-go for traffic—or economical, almost silent cruising for the open road.

Once you take the wheel you'll say "This is it!"—for never before has an automobile provided such spectacular performance combined with such remarkable economy. Come in today—get behind the wheel and experience the most exciting driving in all the world! *Optional at extra cost.

Love and Telephones

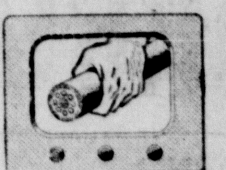

It's not news that the number of marriages is growing by leaps and bounds these days. More marriages mean more families; more families mean more homes; more homes mean the need for more and more telephones. Love is a wonderful thing, but it has the Telephone Company working like crazy to keep up with it! Add to love the requirements of national defense and a booming Pennsylvania—and you have the reasons why 1952 will be such a big year in the continuing telephone expansion program.

"Open Sesame..."

Courtesy Opens the Line

"All doors are open to courtesy" ... A modern version of this old proverb would have to include party-line telephones, for they, too, are open to courtesy. When you keep calls brief, for example, and wait a few minutes between each of several calls that you are making, your courtesy works two ways: it not only opens the party-line for others, but also opens the line for others to reach you with calls you would not want to miss.

Conventions... by Cable!

This year's political conventions will be witnessed by more people in more places than anyone would have dreamed of just a few short years ago. The "extra" audience, of course, consists of the millions who will have front-row seats via television. And the telecasts themselves will journey coast-to-coast via the Bell System's network of coaxial cable lines and Radio-Relay channels... both of which can carry, in addition to transcontinental TV programs, thousands upon thousands of Long Distance telephone calls.
